

Mt Cotton Quarry

Invitation to join our Community Reference Group

MT COTTON
QUARRY

Owner of Mt Cotton Quarry, Barro Group, is changing the location of the active quarry area within our site at 1513 Mt Cotton Road and upgrading access to Mt Cotton Road. As part of these changes, we are establishing a Community Reference Group to seek input on our quarry operations.

Why change is needed

A new quarry area is being established to help meet the growing demand for construction materials in our region. The extension project was approved in 2013 and will occur in stages over several decades. Stage 1 (of a total 4 stages of quarry development) is being undertaken in 2023/2024 and should provide materials for about 20 years.

The upgraded access to Mt Cotton Road will make it safer and easier for our customers and staff to visit Mt Cotton Quarry.

What's happening

Stage 1 will provide an active quarry area of about 15 hectares. This replaces the previous extraction area on the site. Quarry dams and drainage will be upgraded, modern processing equipment will be installed, and site buildings will be improved. A new intersection with Mt Cotton Road and internal access roads will be constructed. Maps and more information are on our website.

When and where

Dates	Roadworks: Until October 2023, weather and construction conditions permitting Construction works inside the quarry: Until early 2024

Environmental features

About 3,300 native trees and shrubs have already been planted on site as part of the Stage 1 extension. This will increase to more than 32,000 over the life of the extension project to offset the removal of some vegetation.

Overall, about 75% of all quarry land is being set aside for conservation as part of the quarry extension.
